Transitioning to Salt Lake City

Immigration

If you are not a U.S. citizen, studying at the Salt Lake City campus will require a student visa. It is important to plan ahead to ensure that your transition to the United States goes as smoothly as possible. Our expert university staff will be there to assist you with the process.

To initiate your immigration process, the University of Utah will issue you an I-20, which is a form certifying that you are eligible to be a student at our U.S. campus. In order to issue your I-20, we will require some information from you:

- A financial statement showing a minimum of $47,446 available in liquid assets
- A signed statement from any sponsor (parents, family members, or others) declaring that person's intent to provide financial support for you
- A copy of the first page of your current passport or national ID card

After your I-20 is issued, you will apply for your visa through the U.S. Embassy, have an interview with a consular officer, and be able to enter the United States up to 30 days before you start studying in Salt Lake City.

International Student and Scholar Services

The International Student and Scholar Services (ISSS) office serves as the primary campus contact for students and scholars from across the world on the U's main campus. When you arrive on the Salt Lake City campus, ISSS provides support, resources, and a welcoming place for international students to meet friends at the U. At ISSS, you can find help with everything from tutoring to immigration and visa questions. We encourage everyone on campus to share their cultures, traditions, and perspectives with each other to build intercultural understanding and global learning across campus and beyond.
